

I'm on the Junior Ranger Program wait list. What else can I do this summer?

In Boulder, there are lots of options for getting involved with outdoor learning and service!
[These links are provided for information purposes only. These programs are not affiliated with the Junior Ranger Program and do not comprise an exhaustive list of opportunities in the Boulder area.]

The following programs and resources offer great opportunities to consider:

- Wildland Restoration Volunteers: As part of WRV's mission to build community and provide venues for volunteer stewardship, WRV is committed to inspiring the next generation of land stewards. As such, there are opportunities for youth involvement at multiple levels within WRV. www.wlrv.org/get_involved/youth.html
- Cottonwood Institute: The Cottonwood Institute was founded in 2004 to inspire young people to initiate positive change in their schools, their communities, and the environment in order to strengthen their civic engagement, environmental stewardship, and leadership skills. www.cottonwoodinstitute.org
- Growing Gardens: ¡Cultiva! Youth Project: ¡Cultiva! is a youth operated 2 acre organic market garden. Participants ages 12 to 19 plant, nurture, harvest, and sell their produce shares weekly to CSA (Community Supported Agriculture) members. www.growinggardens.org/the-cultiva-youth-project
- OSMP volunteer programs: Volunteer on individual projects on Open Space and Mountain Parks!
